CAPABILITY STATEMENT

WELCOME

Brothers Gary & Dean Alexander were born into a racing family. Their father Duncan Alexander was a highly successful jockey in South Africa. Where he won the majority of Group1 handicaps during his career. Gary was granted his trainer's license in 1982 and was joined by his brother Dean in 1990. Together they formed one of the most formidable and successful racing stables in South Africa.

Gary received a special achievement award from the Racing Association in 2006 and in 2012 he was awarded a lifetime achievement award. He was voted trainer of the year in 2000 by the Racing Association when he won no less than 13 Group races in that season. Gary finished third on the National Trainers Log in South Africa on three occasions and he was seldom out of the top ten. Gary & Dean's list of achievements, include the South African record for the most stakes earned in one day, this being achieved on April 27, 2000 when their runners captured a hat-trick of group races, namely the South African Derby (GR1), the Champion Stakes (GR1) and the Gold Bowl (GR2), add to this the achievement of training six winners on one day at South Africa's premier racetrack, Turffontein, on two separate occasions. They have trained over 1600 winners to date, this includes over 100 group and listed race winners.

Gary & Dean were invited to train in Australia, by Racing SA and to set up a racing stable in Murray Bridge. Racing SA are spending heaps of money to uplift horseracing in South Australia and the government is behind them and assisting in the development of a training facility at Murray Bridge Racecourse. This facility will have state of the art stables and training tracks available. The Alexander Brothers will be amongst the first trainers to take occupation there. Incidentally, The Brothers saddled there first winner in Australia at Morphettville Racecourse in only their second starter.

With years of success in the horse racing industry behind them. Consider joining their stable in South Australia!

Alexander's The Business

It's a wonderful day, summer seems to have finally arrived, horses are beginning to flourish and the winners beginning to flow. All in a day's work for those who live by the motto "Our commitment is to improve our achievements and to break records continuously". Ambitious and self-confident, you may think, but when you consistently finish amongst the top five in your field, two trained sires and have 100 top blooded horses around you everyday, perhaps it begins to look just like plain realism, writes Paul do Carmo.

Douglas Whyte

Over the years our former stable apprentices have gone on to be successful jockeys and horseman in their own rite. The most notable being Douglas Whyte who became world renowned jockey and now a successful trainer in Hong Kong.

Whyte is red hot

DOUG WHYTE showed at Turfworld yesterday that Pierre Strydom doesn't have a monopoly on riding several winners at a meeting. Whyte was in blazing form and roared off five wins, including victory in the main event, the Mr Man Handicap, on Naval Guard.

Secret is out — Whyte is under Alexander wing

THE secret of apprentice Douglas Whyte's phenomenal success in recent weeks is out. The youngster has been groomed for stardom under the watchful eye of former top lightweight jockey, Duncan Alexander.

Timber Trader (NZ)

Timber Trader gives Alexander the Derby

ONE COMMENTATOR

Timber Trader showed his class on Saturday afternoon when winning the R5-million SA Derby over 2 400m at Turfworld.

Waf Whyte was heavily backed to win the main event of the day and although giving of his best, never got to grips with Timber Trader.

Gary Alexander had been very transparent in recent weeks about Timber Trader being aimed at the Derby.

His inspired and comfortably held Roger and Waf Whyte at bay and won the race fair and square. He is going to be a force to be reckoned with in future staying races.

Training honours went to Mike de Kock and Charles Laird who bagged three future race winners' spines, and Weichung Maing was the best of the jockeys, riding three winners.

Laird enjoyed early success in the Camelia Handicap over 1 200m when the 7-year-old gelding overtook the well-backed Prefamed Princess in the shadow of the post-under a superb Weichung Maing ride.

Chloe made all the running to win The Merchants over 1 200m, completing a quick double for Charles Laird.

This had to be Marco van Rensburg's finest moment as a jockey since joining the academy a few years ago.

Mark Khan who is currently heading the South African Jockey Championship brought home the bacon in the SA Fillies Nursery about 1 800m.

This was a shock result as the horse recently won her maiden at unexcited odds of 13/1.

Charles Laird did not have to wait too long for his third winner of the afternoon as Forest Troop easily accounted for a very strong field of two-year-old colts and geldings.

He was the SA Nursery by a comfortable margin ensuring that visiting rider Karl Nielson would not go home empty handed.

Moyola was perfectly ridden to secure the SA Oaks over 2 400m and assisted de Kock in his first win of the afternoon.

Pread Classic ran on strongly for a good second and is sure to win her fair share of races.

De Kock was back in the winner's enclosure after being edged out on best of all to win the Gold Bowl over 2 200m.

This Cecil Trigo-owned gelding had to fight off many challengers and was a well-deserved winner.

Cork Wood came right back to her best form when winning the Gerald Rosenberg Stakes over 2 000m. She took the lead early in the straight and drew away from her field in effortless fashion with De Kock and Maing both enjoying their third winner of the afternoon.

Young Rabeen was the best of the feature races, the Champion Stakes over 2 000m and gave Piers Strydom and David Ferraris a long-awaited winner.

This son of Rabeen has proven to be brilliant over 2 000m and has earned more than R2.5 million in stakes.

For a winner - 082 232 6138.

Timber!

DRY SA DERBY at Turfworld last Saturday

Timber Trader may be South Africa's most exciting staying prospect since the days of Anamood in the late 1960's after his sparkling win in the SA Derby over 2 400m at Turfworld on Saturday. A New Zealand-bred colt who has long given the impression that he needs a few best of all, Timber Trader was racing beyond expectations in his brief career and the effects were immediately obvious, writes Matthew Lips.

DAVID MILLETT

Whyte, who makes impressive sense for Michael Chase, looks like a giant, but no doubt they get a huddle when they huddle. The youngster has been groomed for stardom under the watchful eye of former top lightweight jockey, Duncan Alexander.

The crowd here for Douglas Whyte was immense when he won the SA Derby over 2 400m on Saturday morning, an easy triumph, perhaps an all-time great performance.

Timber Trader was a 13/1 shot when he won the Derby over 2 400m on Saturday morning, an easy triumph, perhaps an all-time great performance.

IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN THEIR INTENTION TO TRAIN RACE HORSES INTERNATIONALLY.

Fortunately, they were invited by Racing South Australia to train in Australia.

There is a big drive by Racing SA to uplift the racing industry in their state. They are investing a huge amount of money developing a training and racing center in Murray Bridge.

This will be a state-of-the-art training facility and Gary and Dean, will be amongst the first trainers to take occupation there. Horse Racing in Australia is big business, and this is evident by the ever-increasing value of bloodstock in the industry. It is not only racing that is financially attractive but also breeding and trading of horses.

ALEXANDER BROTHERS RACING OWNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Thoroughbred Ownership

As a racing fan, have you ever wondered what it's like to be the owner of a winning Thoroughbred? Have you ever thought about how much fun it would be to be amongst the excited gathering of friends and well-wishers that ring the winner's circle after each victory?

There are several ways to become involved as an owner, and they include everything from buying a horse yourself to owning a small percentage of a horse with a group of friends. Thoroughbred ownership can be played at many different levels and the excitement is there at any level of participation.

The unique sights, sounds and camaraderie of the backstretch in the morning, the beauty of and bond with the horse, the anticipation of race day, the anxiousness in the paddock before the race and the rush you get from seeing your horse come onto the track is available to all owners.

Ownership

There are various types of ownership that are available to the investor to conduct their horse racing and breeding activities. It is important to understand the tax, legal and liability implications of each. As always, consult with your tax and/or legal advisor before choosing a type of business entity for your equine activity.

This is a brief outline, to educate you, the owner. Information is power. We believe the more information we provide and the more informed you are, the more fun and success you will achieve. If you want to invest in a racehorse, it is a simple process, but, like many "simple" things, a lot of thought and planning is done beforehand to make it look simple.

Keep in mind that equine investments are, if treated properly, legitimate business activities. Every new owner is confronted by the urge to develop a stable on his or her own; specifically, the selection of the horses. However, thoroughbred racing is a team sport.

Success in the game is dependent on more than the natural talent of its athletes. As with any other good team, in addition to outstanding athletes, the team must have a good coach, astute scouts, a quality physician, adequate support personnel and a savvy owner.

Sole Ownership

Sole Ownership, where the horses are owned by a single individual, is considered the simplest form of ownership. While the owner enjoys the advantage of making decisions without regard to other investors, the owner is individually liable for all expenses.

Partnership

A general partnership is the most basic form of a partnership. Typically, two or more individuals join to form a partnership, but all gains and losses pass through to the individual partners.

The major advantage is that this form of ownership gives the investors more buying power, and the costs are shared. The most important point we recommend is that a partnership agreement must be in place when entering partnerships.

Syndicate: Commonly defined as a co-ownership group, a syndicate is a hybrid form of business entity, like a partnership that is created by contract among members of the syndicate. Syndicates are most often associated with breeding and racing ventures. They allow an investor to raise capital and sell interests in a specific asset.

Each co-owner or syndicate member's rights and obligations are defined by contract, with the syndicate manager appointed to exercise management duties. A co-ownership agreement is a prerequisite.

Benefits of Racehorse Ownership

The racing action, behind-the-scenes, hustle of the paddock, the exhilaration of cheering on your own horse are just a few benefits to the sheer delight of owning your own racehorse.

- Stake Money. This is the money earned by the horse finishing in the places ording to the stakes allocated to the place it finishes.
- Raceday Privileges. Most racecourses have special viewing areas set aside for owners and all, but a few have an Owners Bar.
- Networking. Influential high-profile business professionals' own racehorses. Racehorse ownership is an opportunity to get to meet and race with these people. Many big business deals have been concluded through meetings brought about by horse racing.
- International horse racing opportunities. Huge prize money is at stake for horses racing internationally.
- Sale of racehorses internationally. Numerous horses are sold around the world for racing and breeding purposes, and this is a great opportunity for owners to export their horses.
- Communication & information. Most importantly, the enjoyment of being part of the stable by receiving horse and stable updates and information, as well as easy line of communication.

A world of opportunity awaits you in the horse racing industry; let Alexander Brothers Racing guide you to a successful and fulfilled horse racing experience!
